WIDE RANGE OF MATERIALS IN BACK PANEL DECORATION.

Following as a logical outgrowth of the back trimming effects which have inundated the entire fashion world these last few months comes the vogue of the back panel decoration, which is right now on a decided way of prominence and favor.

Perhaps one special reason of its popularity is the wide range of opportunity it offers to bring into play all sorts and kinds of handsome and effective dress materials. It does not have to follow the color or material scheme of the dress any more than does the tunic or panier, and yet it is quite as striking and distinguishes a mode of trimming.

Wider and more varied is the assortment of panels being shown these days. Hand painted panels and panels of metal fabrics, panels of elaborately brocaded goods, and panels edged with stunningly dyed furs which either match or contrast with the dress material shown are displayed in the most exclusive shops. From the simplest afternoon frock of serge and silk to the most elaborate evening creation of black Chantilly and jet these panels are to be seen.

As for their length, there is no uniformity as far as that is concerned. Some of the panels drop to the bottom of the gown, while others barely reach below the waist line and yet still insist on being designated by the name of back panel. The most popular length, however, is that of the three-quarter panel, which comes down to the knees in the back, sometimes ending in a point and sometimes scurrying off abruptly.

The tassel fringe on the edge of the panel is a novelty which so far has only been shown on some of the extreme models. From all indications, however, there seems no reason for believing this special style of trimming will not become popular in time. It allows of such an infinite variety of styles and fancies that it is bound to appeal to the heart of every normal, clothes loving woman.

One charming evening frock of white chiffon and charmeuse boasted a narrow back panel which fell from the edge of the low neck quite to the hem of the skirt and was caught down at the belt by a huge Japanese bow, "mousme," they call it, of vivid scarlet satin. This same panel was edged with tiny red rosebuds, a bit of a rhinestone sparkling in the heart of each bud. Roses edged the small puffed shoulder sleeves and also the mousme bow.

Some of the smartest shirtheists this fall are of washable material, but are quite unstarched. An exaggerated limpness in all lines of dress is still in vogue.

Lace top shoes with patent leather vamps and showing a lining of silk underneath the heavy lace, to match the costume worn, are extremely modish just now. They are one of the best examples to show the excessive use to which lace is brought these present days.

CANADA TO BAR OUT ALL HINDUS

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 2.—H. H. Stevens, Vancouver's parliamentary representative, returned from Ottawa last night with the announcement that the federal government was considering legislation to deal with the Hindu question in British Columbia. A radical measure, Mr. Stevens said, would be presented at the next session of parliament. Formerly Hindus were barred from Canada under a regulation compelling them to travel by direct steamer from India, there being until a few months ago no such service in existence. Now, however, certain steamers make the direct voyage and Hindus are entering the province in large numbers.

A court decision recently in the case of a forcible deportation, was to the effect that Hindus could be deported only for such causes as would apply to any foreign citizens.

THEATERS

AT THE ORPHEUM.

With a company of players whose acting was almost flawless, the great Broadhurst drama, "Bought and Paid For," was presented at the Orpheum last night.

Telling the story of a man of wealth who has wrested his money, with all the power that it brings, from the world and yet, in the midst of his luxurious surroundings, he says, "This is not home, it is only the place where I live." This is only the first lesson of this big drama teaches. It teaches many others; the power of drink over the higher sensibilities of an intelligent man, changing him from an indulgent husband to a brute having only the primal instinct of using force to gain what his passion demands. Against this is the power of a good woman and a love which in the end triumphs over all.

The story is gripping in its dramatic situations and has running through it a vein of delicious humor that brings a smile through the tears and a tear will make "Bought and Paid For" live for many years in the hearts of the masses.

Charles Millward, who essayed the role of Robert Stafford last year, again led the company and a more natural portrayal of the type would be hard to find. As the master of finance, the indulgent husband, the besotted brute and again the lover, who finds that love alone satisfies, he seemed to live the part.

In Evelyn Weidling, he had a foil worthy even of his own high standard of acting. From a sweet innocent girl to a strong woman, fighting for that which she held more sacred than life itself, her self-respect, is a hard road for any actress to carry. Yet Miss Weidling, as Virginia Blaine, did not for an instant lose her hold upon the part and in the second act, rose to splendid emotional heights.

Almost sharing honors with Mr. Millward and Miss Weidling, were Hobart Cavanaugh and Dorothy Davies. In the roles of Fanny Blaine and James Gilley. Their comedy was worthy of all the praise that could be given them. Josephine, French maid and Oku, the Jap servant, were capably played by Florence Hester and Clyde Crawford.

IF BACKACHE OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating Breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water, also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Advertisement.

MAY AMEND THE BANKING ACT

New Currency Bill May Necessitate Changes in Present National Law.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Before congress completes the proposed currency legislation it may find it necessary to amend the national banking act, especially if the house and the president agree to the senate committee's proposal to guarantee bank deposits.

Bank deposit guarantee—treasury officials prefer "insurance" to "guarantee"—is looked upon with favor by the officers of the comptroller of the currency. Officials declare that deposit insurance to be effective must be accompanied by changes in the power of the comptroller so that he shall be given more latitude in the curing of sick banks. Under the present law the comptroller can only close a shaky bank temporarily or place it in the hands of a receiver. In many cases the comptroller finds a bank solvent and in fairly good condition but its management is faulty. To close such an institution under the proposed law would mean an unnecessary drain on the guarantee fund.

Officials believe an enlargement of the comptroller's power giving him authority to replace the management with men of better financial judgment would prevent many failures and strengthen the guarantee clause. Guarantee is favored by treasury officials because of a belief among many depositors in national banks that because the institution is licensed by the federal government its depositors cannot lose.

PRICELESS ART TREASURES IN U. S.

New York, Dec. 2.—The year 1913 will have an unusual record to contribute to the history of fine arts in this country. This fact is brought to the fore by the death yesterday of George A. Hearn, the third millionaire art collector to die during the year. His death promises to enrich the metropolitan museum of art with priceless treasures, which may be roughly estimated above $100,000,000 value in all.

THE WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

WALL STREET.

New York, N. Y., Dec. 2.—The course of the market recently having indicated that real liquidation had ceased, support was given organized efforts today to put up prices. Technical conditions were in favor of an upward movement and concerted pressure was applied against the short interest when the market showed a tendency to ignore bearish influence.

The tape was studied with a series of large transactions in the prominent stocks and prices rose consistently through the morning. The strength of the list was the more impressive because it had no foreign assistance. London, in fact, was a moderately large seller, the movement deriving chief impulse from uncertainty over the impending French loan and the threatened congestion of the London market. Easter money encouraged speculation on the long side.

Call loans renewed at 5 3/4 per cent compared with 8 per cent yesterday. Bonds were strong.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 2.—Wheat today showed a tendency to harden in response to a decrease in the European visible supply. The market opened unchanged to 1-8-1-4 higher, but afterward reacted to last night's level. Snow and rain strengthened corn. Opening prices, though, which were 1-8-1-4 to 3-8-1-4, failed to hold, as buyers were not urgent.

Oats developed temporary firmness with corn, but sagged when corn eased back. First sales of provisions were 5 to 10 and 12 1-2 lower, with a subsequent additional fall.

Black rust spreading in Argentina and threatening damage by green bugs and Hessian fly in the United States caused an upturn in wheat later. The close however was weak at 1-8 to 1-4 net advance.

Holding of corn prices by Missouri prevented any decided bearish reaction here. The close was steady, unchanged to 1-8 higher.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents in a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. Agents, A. R. McIntyre.
